

Lori Montgomery's Bio (continued).

Photography and all forms of photographic arts are of interest and source of relaxation and creativity for me. It is a rarity for me to venture far without a camera, which often allows me to engage in activities I would not ordinarily attempt. My images have been shown at various galleries and displays. Awards have been received locally, regionally and internationally. I am happy when an image I have made can create interest and brighten someone's day. Life is good.